

Droves of Silence

The hue of the molts, those accomplished by silence. The grace of these rowers in drawing the sky, and the skin that amplifies it in the unfurling anticipation of the storm, but the ornamentation of the eyes with an umbilical cord is now prohibited. It is so since the 3rd generation of custom robots.

Like a residue
of a name deposited on her lips, from now on, there will be no more navels unless they are circumscribed by razor blades.

The relationship of the dispossessed to the global Enterprise will therefore have induced a considerable step towards self-effacement. The only fantasies now permitted are those involving a robot carrying a category 6 weapon, the tonfa. Oh f—k yeah! Robots don't kiss: they castrate the condemned.

In the Ezekiel robot guardian series, this tonfa will serve as their tongue. An so. So. From the womb to death and from sleep to cries, control imposed by access code is the latest innovation of the high-security prison.

Repeat offenders will have to sign a waiver accepting the triggering of an appropriate electrical restraint. In case of refusal, they will be placed in an isolation cell. The embellishment of the belly with an umbilical cord is now prohibited.

Conjuring with a finger while touching his shoulder, in a guilty attempt to invoke the areola, beneath this barely opened bee flower in the sky, a cascade of starlings in the leafy ravines. It's call a tooth-pulling sessions... The belly is now marked with the word "banned".

A defaced prison number.

A defaced prison number.

In place and at a new access point, the upgrade navel will have only one opening: a key located between the two shoulder blades. A digital fingerprint security system for guaranteed access is now available from your authorized provider. As for the vulva, it will only be admitted with the libidinal consent of repeat offenders.

The only allowed fantasies will have as their object-support the series of robots equipped with a tonfa. A tonfa. I'm not kidding it's destroying that convict ass!
